'Think It Over Mister, You've Still Got Time' - - - Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(AP)—An open letter to a prospective holiday traffic fatality:

Dear Sir:

You probably are going to die needlessly today.

You are one of the hundreds who are always ticketed for death during the carnival of carnage that takes place on American highways during a holiday weekend.

Too bad. You're a nice guy. People like you. Your wife and kids are going to miss you terribly. They will, that is, unless you kill them, too, in the same accident that takes your own life.

• • •

Yes, your family will always remember you kindly. Even your son, who will have to go to work instead of college. He won't blame you too much for your moment of carelessness that will cost him the career he wanted.

"Poor dad," he'll say. "He just didn't think."

And he'll be right. For it is pure carelessness that is going to kill you today.

• • •

I wonder how it will happen to you? Trying to pass another car on a hill? Speeding around a curve too fast on worn tires? Or will it be faulty brakes? In any case it will be something you could have avoided by using common sense.

• • •

Will they find you impaled on your own steering wheel, or hurled limp and lifeless and bleeding into a roadside ditch? You'll be lucky either way. For death will have erased your stupidity as quickly and painlessly as death can. At the hospital they'll simply tie a D. O. A. tag on your body—"Dead on Arrival"—and haul you to a morgue.

But death often isn't that kind to careless people. You may suffer horribly in your shattered car before they get an ambulance to you. And some doctor may work two or three hours on the operating table trying vainly to keep alive the bloody pulp of torn flesh and broken bones that yesterday was you.

• • •

Doctors and nurses in the hospitals get to feeling pretty blue on holidays, waiting for the hopeless accident cases that always come. They hate to fight so hard to save a life and then lose it, even a foolish life.

The sad thing about it is, of course, that is is all so unnecessary. There still is time to avoid it. But, no, you have a stupid rendezvous with death—and you are going to keep it.

• • •

"Gee, it's a wonderful day to be alive," you will say. "I think I'll take the family for a ride."

So you'll trundle out your bus, load on the wife and kids. And somewhere over the hills, merry miles away, death is waiting for you at the exact spot where you'll get careless.

For years after that the family won't want to ride by that place again.

• • •

All your friends will go to your funeral and say what a swell guy you were, and what a shame it is that you are gone.

And nobody will have the courage to put the epitaph on your tombstone that you deserve:

"Killed by his own damn foolishness."

Sincerely,

HAL BOYLE.

P. S.: Think it over, mister. You've still got time.

REPORT NEW RED DRIVE NEAR

SIX-YEAR-OLD GIRL FOUND SLAIN—The body of a six-year-old girl was found in a "hobo jungle" beside a railroad in Chicago, and police said that the unknown slayer smashed her head against a rock. The child, Yvonne Georgina Biritz, last was seen by her nine-year-old brother, Joseph, Jr. Her body was found after an all night search and police seized a suspect for questioning, whose name was withheld

Check Clues In Murder of Six-Year-Old

CHICAGO, (AP)—Police chased several clues today in their futile hunt for the brutal killer of six year old Yvonne Georgiana Biritz.

The pretty blue eyed child's body, with her head crushed, was found yesterday in a hobo jungle on the West side. She had been sought all night by police and volunteers after her mother, Mrs. Wanda Biritz, reported her missing about 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Police said the child may have been swung through the air by her ankles and her head dashed against a makeshift concrete fireplace nearby, where hoboes cook their meals.

Medical examination showed that the child had not been molested sexually.

Switchmen for the Chicago Great Western railroad, whose tracks run nearby, said they saw four or five teen aged boys near the scene. The boys had built a fire and were dancing and running around, they said.

Sgt. Frank Sheehan of the homicide squad said police were considering the possibility that the boys were tormenting the child and accidentally dashed her head against a rock and killed her Yvonne's brother, Joseph, nine, said he last saw his sister at 6 p.m. Thursday, talking to a man. A playmate also told a member of the family that Yvonne had been talking to a man in a white shirt and dark trousers.

A wine bottle found near the child's body is being checked for fingerprints.

Britain Abolishes Common Informers

LONDON, (AP) — Britain has cut off another form of private enterprise. A law which becomes effective today takes away most of the profit common informers have realized for the past 620 years.

Until today, informers collected the fine if the people they tattled on were convicted of breaking any of 43 different laws. A handful of smart men who read up on these laws made informing their only profession.

Texas Town Rocked by Chemical Explosion

Seven Injured; Fire Rages in Phillips Plant

Battle Blaze in Butadiene Factory After Three Hours

BORGER, Tex.—(AP)—A series of earth-shaking explosions followed by fire erupted in a sprawling butadiene plant near here today.

Seven men were injured as blasts rocked the big plant, operated by Phillips Chemical company to produce a component of synthetic rubber.

The explosions began at 6 a.m. (CDT) and three hours later were still going on as the blaze reached new tanks, stills or other units of the plant.

The plant is three and a fourth miles west of this Texas Panhandle city. It was built in 1942 by Phillips Chemical, a subsidiary of Phillips Petroleum Company, for the government.

Of the seven injured, one was reported in serious condition.

Plant Shut Down

The firm immediately shut down the big plant, and it appeared the fire might be allowed to burn itself out. The terrific heat and billowing black smoke drove firemen back from the blaze.

Borger itself was still being shaken hours after the initial explosion as more blasts occurred. Thick, black smoke drifted over the city.

The black smoke is from the burning of furfural, a material used in the purification of butadiene. Butadiene itself burns with a clear flame.

Impossible to Learn Cause

Company representatives said it would be impossible to investigate the cause of the blast, or learn the extent of damages, until the fire was brought under control.

Executive Secretary of Church Of Brethren to Reside Here; Will Serve Wisconsin, Illinois

The Rev. Olden D. Mitchell has recently moved from Staunton, Va., to Dixon to assume the work of executive secretary for the work of the Church of the Brethren in Illinois and Wisconsin beginning September 1.

REV. MITCHELL

In his field of service, the Rev. Mr. Mitchell will assist the churches of his denomination in the two states in the development of a more adequate total church program. A major responsibility will be that of "pastor to the pastors", counseling with pastors and churches relative to pastoral changes and pastor-church relations. He will also serve as administrator of the total church program developed by the various district boards and committees in the expansion of their work. In addition, he will assist the local churches in the improving of their work in the fields of Christian education, leadership training, stewardship education and finance organization.

Headed Association

During his pastorate at the Lewis Street Church of the Brethren in Staunton for four years the Rev. Mr. Mitchell was active in the leadership of groups and organizations beyond his local church. He served as secretary and later as president of the Staunton Ministerial Association; secretary and president of the Augusta County Ministerial Association; chairman of the Beverly Manor Bible Teaching Association which administered the Bible teaching program on a released time basis in the public schools; vice president of the Staunton chapter of the United World Federalist for three years, an organization working for world peace through world law, order and government.

Member of Regional Board

In the Southeastern region of his denomination the Rev Mr. Mitchell served as a member of

Experiment With Human Blood to Halt Polio Effects

PROVO, Utah, (AP)—A mass inoculation of 5,000 central Utah children will be conducted next week to determine whether a portion of human blood can prevent crippling after effects of polio.

Dr. William Hammon said yesterday the first controlled experiment with the antibody gamma globulin, a blood fraction, will be launched Tuesday in Utah county.

Will Block Oil

CAIRO, Egypt, (AP) — Cairo newspapers said today Egypt would attempt to block any effort to escort Israel-bound oil tankers through the Suez canal with warships.

Kennecott Copper Workers End Strike, Expect Rest to Follow

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Settlement of the strike at Kennecott Copper Corp., producer of 35 per cent of the nation's copper, may have paved the way for an early end of the nationwide shutdown which threatened to slow up the defense program.

Kennecott and union leaders reached an agreement yesterday after President Truman called for federal action to end the strike.

Negotiations behind the scenes were started at once with the three other major producers. There were hopeful signs that by Monday, at least, settlements would follow at the far flung operations of Phelps-Dodge Corp., American Smelting and Refining Co., and Anaconda Copper Co.

Seek Price Hike

The latter probably will seek a price increase if it bows to the 15-cent "package" wage raise granted by Kennecott to its more than 9,000 workers in Utah, Nevada and Mexico. Kennecott had agreed earlier to set up a pension system which it estimated would add another 4½ cents to the cost of the raise.

Kennecott indicated it would not go after a price rise. But if Anaconda, which has much higher-cost mining operations below the surface in Montana, gets an increase from the Office of Price Stabilization, the other firms may follow suit.

Checking Facts

While the secret bargaining talks with the Independent Mine, Mill and Smelters Workers Union, and the AFL and railroad unions involved went on without fanfare, the president's board of inquiry continued checking into the facts in the dispute.

As soon as the board reports on those facts, the president may ask Attorney General McGrath to seek a court injunction to force the balance of the 58,000 idle workers to return to the lead, zinc, and copper workings.

Kennecott employes after voting on whether to accept the 15-cent settlement, were expected to be back at work in force by Tuesday.

Bomber, With Four Aboard, Is Missing

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, (AP)—An air force C-47 with four aboard was reported missing in Alaska on the heels of the crash of a navy privateer in the Aleutians yesterday carrying 10 men

Judge Bracken Tells Couple A Biblical Tale, Then Awards Custody of Children to Mother

A story from the Bible figured in a child custody case yesterday afternoon and the story was a factor in Judge Robert Bracken's arrival at a decision.

The story is that of King Solomon and two mothers who claimed the same child. It goes like this:

Two women claimed the same child and went before King Solomon, who also served as judge. The king said that since both women claimed the child it should be split in half.

He asked each mother if this would be agreeable. The first woman said it would But, the second woman said, "No, give it to her." The king then gave the child to the second woman. The reason was apparent

In court yesterday afternoon Judge Bracken repeated this story before questioning Mrs. Ethel Guinn. Mrs. Guinn now has custody of two children by a former marriage Her former husband, Raymond L Wakenight, was

Truman Signs Bills

WASHINGTON, (AP) — President Truman yesterday signed four appropriation bills totaling about $10,000,000,000. One authorizes the building of 50,000 public housing units this year.

All measures finance the operation of various agencies including the labor, agriculture and interior departments for the fiscal year ending next June 30

"What's That . . . ?"

DETROIT—(AP)—Miss Baleslawa Lukowski, 19, accused of being indecently clad at a public beach, opened her purse. She pulled out a pair of green panties for the judge to see.

"What's that? A handkerchief?" Judge Gerald W. Groat asked.

Miss Lukowski explained that tiny bras and the green panties were acceptable beach attire in Germany where she came from.

Appearing in court with the young woman was Frederick Ziedlarz, 25. Police also had objected to his scanty attire—jockey shorts. The two were arrested on a beach.

Judge Groat fined Ziedlarz $25 and placed Miss Lukowksi on probation for a year. He suggested they get accepted American bathing suits.

Both are displaced Poles who came here recently from Germany.

Frank Sinatra Denies He Took Pill Overdose

Calls Report of Suicide Attempt 'Wild, Ridiculous'

LAKE TAHOE, Calif.—(AP)—Crooner Frank Sinatra today hotly denied rumors he swallowed an overdose of sleeping pills in an attempt at suicide.

"I've never heard anything so damn wild and rediculous," Sinatra told newsmen.

Referring to rumors which said he took the pills after a spat with Screen Actress Ava Gardner, Sinatra said:

"This would be a hell of a time to do away with myself. I've been trying to lick this thing for two years and I've practically got it licked now."

Sings (?) In Nevada

His friends said that was a reference to his wife's refusal to free him so he could marry Miss Gardner.

Sinatra, who's fulfilling singing engagements in Nevada, is now establishing divorce residence here. He says he'll marry Miss Gardner after that.

He gave this account of what probably started the suicide rumors:

"This whole thing took place Monday night, which makes me laugh.

"Ava and I were out that night and I drank a lot of brandy. When I dropped Ava off and went back to my place I couldn't sleep, and no wonder.

"Stuck In My Chest"

"So I got up and took a couple of seconal tablets, but they kind of stuck in my chest. I got a little worried and called a friend of mine who runs the steak house here and he sent me a doctor.

"He gave me a glass of warm water with some salt in it. It made me throw up and I was all right."

Sinatra said he hadn't heard about the rumors until last night.

"I've been surprised before but this was really a shocker. And then I began to get mad."

Miss Gardner, summoned by her studio, departed for Hollywood a few hours after Sinatra's illness His friends said her departure probably sparked rumors of a spat.

Freeport Police Chief Charges Mayor Blocked Enforcement

FREEPORT—(AP)—Police Chief Walter L. Marsh of Freeport yesterday accused Mayor Glen F. Kunkle and the Freeport city council of "blocking every effort of the police department to control" law violations.

Chief Marsh who has been chief five years made the charge in a letter published in yesterday's Freeport Journal Standard. Mayor Kunkle declined immediate comment. He is serving his first term as mayor. He was elected in May, 1949

Marsh said Mayor Kunkle and he disagreed over use of policemen in a raid made by the county sheriff. Marsh said it has become increasingly difficult to run his department.

"I had several reports from officers that they had noticed certain forms of gambling in some taverns. The mayor is liquor commissioner. When I reported this to him he asked what the officers were doing snooping in such places and stated they had better take care of their other duties and he would take care of the taverns," wrote Marsh.

Marsh said he wrote the letter following statements he claimed were made by Mayor Kunkle and the city council. Marsh said the statements alleged he was "getting too big for his britches."

Marsh said the council passed an ordinance two weeks ago amending a law that gave him control over his department. The amendment made Marsh subordinate to Kunkle, Marsh said.

Four Divisions Move to War Front, Claim

Fighting Breaks Out All Over as Peace Talks Stall

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HQ., Korea—(AP)—Four new Red divisions were spotted on Korea's east-central front today as bloody fighting continued on the slopes of jagged mountain peaks.

AP Correspondent George McArthur said there were "some indications" the Reds might jump off shortly on a major offensive.

An Allied officer told McArthur the reinforced Red forces in the east could throw "a whale of a blow" at the U.N. positions. But he added he did not believe the Reds could successfully attack the Allied line.

Stepped Up Action

There was stepped-up action on land and sea and in the air. Allied officers said their divisions were engaged in the heaviest fighting since the now-suspended truce talks started in Kaesong July 10.

Bombers and fighters attacked Red supply and communications facilities in North Korea.

Communist and U.N. jets tangled in a 20-minute dogfight high over northwestern Korea. All Allied planes returned to base. Maj. Winton C. Marshall of Raleigh, N. C., was credited with probably destroying one Russian-type MIG.

Allies Stalled

The U.N. Allies were stalled in a savage all-day battle for "Bloody Ridge" on the east-central front. AP Photographer Bob Otey reported the Reds fought to the death from deep bunkers and machine gun nests.

To the west, Communists counterattacked and took a hill they lost Friday. But the U.N. forces slashed back and recaptured it.

When the fighting died down, more than 460 Communists dead were counted on the hillside.

Ashton Farmer Finds Sheep-Raising Profitable Venture

Corn-Hog Land Can Be Made To Raise Sheep With a Profit

Editor's Note: The following article was written by Herbert L. Schaller, Mt. Morris, former editor of the Mt. Morris Index and now editor of Better Farming Methods, a magazine produced by the Watt Publishing Co. A former resident of Ashton, the author tells about the sheep raising venture of Ralph Fulton, a farmer residing two miles south of Ashton. The article appears in the September issue of Successful Farming. The Evening Telegraph gratefully acknowledges permission by Successful Farming and Mr. Schaller to reprint this highly interesting article).

By HERBERT SCHALLER

Not many farmers in the heart of the Cornbelt raise sheep as their main source of livestock income. Sheep numbers are growing in areas of high-priced land, but most farmers still feel they are ahead raising hogs and beef cattle on land which most farmers like to refer to as "corn-hog" land.

Not so with Ralph Fulton, Lee County, Illinois. He lives right in the region where corn and hogs reign, but he has found there are big dividends in sheep, too.

Fulton's success with sheep dates back to his high school days when he started with a F. F. A. and 4-H project of two Southdown ewes. Today, his breeding flock consists of about 160 high-grade Western ewes. In addition he feeds about 600 feeder lambs a year. His present position as a successful Midwestern sheep raiser took time and patience. First, as a young man just out of high school, he spent a year on a Western sheep ranch learning all he could about raising sheep. Since then he has kept abreast with all the new developments in sheep production.

Tried hormone-treated ewes. Fulton is one of the first farmers to try the two-lamb-crops-a-year idea. Last October he got a 50-per cent lamb crop from a flock of 60 Texas ewes which were hormone treated soon after lambing in the spring of 1950. He is satisfied that the practice will be developed and prove practical.

However, he feels there are many problems yet to be ironed out. He's finding the answers to these problems well in advance of the average farmer. "Probably three lamb crops in two years will prove best," says Fulton. "Even with good feed and management, these ewes are rundown and in poor condition. I doubt whether they would profitably produce another lamb crop without a rest period."

Fulton uses a ewe-marking harness on the rams. By doing this, he hopes to find out what part the ram plays in determining the per cent of ewes bred. "As yet, no work has been done to find out which breed of rams will make the best summer breeders," says Fulton.

* * *

Vaccinates for overeating disease. Another practice which illustrates Fulton's alertness is that he vaccinates his feeder lambs for enterotoxemia (overeating disease). "My losses have dropped from 8 to 10 per cent to 2 to 3 per cent since I started vaccinating," says Fulton.

"The fact that they can be kept on full feed all the time not only pushes them along to market faster, but cuts down on feeding time. If I save one lamb in 100, that will more than pay for the cost of vaccination."

* * *

Eliminated pregnancy disease. Fulton has all but eliminated the so-called pregnancy disease in bred ewes. One trick he uses is to feed corn in the grain ration. The disease is basically nutritional, and thought to be partly caused by a lack of sugar in the ration. The corn supplies that need.

Second, he feeds his ewes about a quarter of a mile from the barns. This gives the ewes the needed exercise, and the ewes don't fill up on feed and then lie around the barn. "It has another advantage, too," says Fulton. "Manure is deposited right out in the field where there's no loss from leaching, and saves the labor of hauling it to the field."

* * *

Keeps ewes on range. The ewes are fed chopped alfalfa hay and grain during the winter. They are left on range until just before lambing time. Even then, the ewes which have not dropped their lambs are taken to the field for feeding and then brought back to the barns during the remainder of the day and night. Up to one-third corn is used in the grain ration during the final three weeks before lambing. Bran is also added during that period. Fulton prefers Western range ewes because he believes they are bigger and stronger, heavier milkers, and are better mothers than Texas or Southwestern stock.

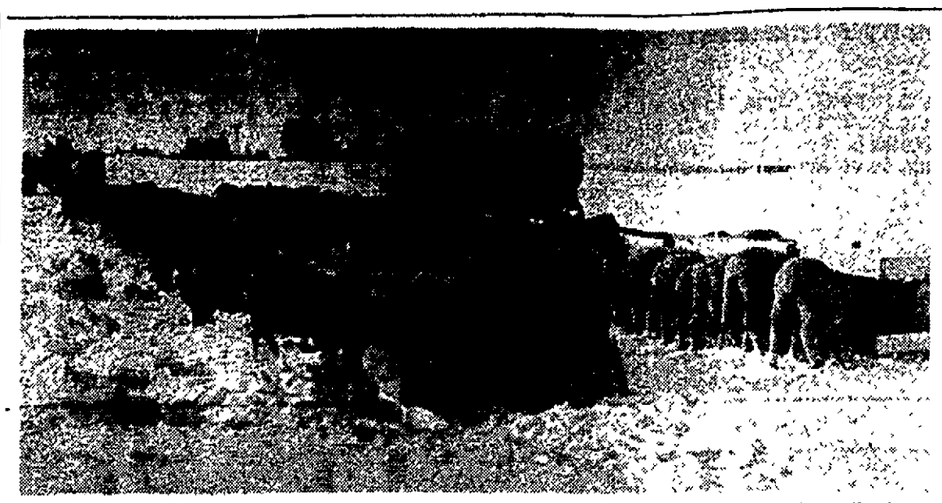

The ewes are wormed with a phenothiazine drench in early fall and at shearing time in the spring. A mixture of 1 part phenothiazine to 12 parts salt is kept before them at all times. The ewes are bred to lamb in January or February, and are flushed on full pasture.

* * *

Special care at lambing time. During lambing season, lights are left on in the sheds all night. "Ewes can see better, and keep closer contact with their lambs. This is especially true of twins," says Fulton.

After the ewe has lambed she is moved to a 4'x4' pen. Her udder is checked, lambs checked, iodine put on the lamb's navel, and feed and water given to the ewe. The lambs are not urged to suck right away. Rather, Fulton waits for several hours, and then if the lamb hasn't sucked, he gives it some help.

Only in extreme cases is artificial heat used. Fulton feels that colds often develop when heat is abruptly cut off. He prefers a draft-free, dry barn.

PLENTY OF EXERCISE helps cut down pregnancy disease. Ewes are fed one-quarter mile from barn. Heavy corn feeding (one-third of grain ration) during the last three weeks of pregnancy supplies needed sugar. Hay and grain are fed from the same feeder. Manure is deposited in the fields.

Keeps close records. Fulton follows closely a system of records and marking. As each ewe lambs, he records her ear-tag number. He also records the number of lambs, date of lambing, condition of the lambs, and the ewe's milk supply. Then using sheep-branding paint, he marks each ewe with a number and gives the same number to the lambs. Twin lambs are marked on the right, singles on left.

"Marking the ewe and her lambs has several advantages," says Fulton. "If a ewe dies, you can immediately find her lambs and put them on feed. The side the number is on tells you whether to look for one or two lambs. If the lambs are doing well, it's a pretty good bet that the ewe is a good milker and mother. This will enable you to pick out the best ewes and their lambs for replacement stock."

* * *

Lambs Are Creep-Fed. Fulton starts creep-feeding his lambs almost immediately. A light is kept burning over the creep-feeder day and night. "Lambs don't like dark corners, and if you want to get them eating right soon, use a light," says Fulton. Cracked corn, oats, bran, and oil meal make up the creep ration. The lambs are docked and castrated when they are a week to 10 days old.

"Home-raised lambs are sorted and the best sold on the June market, right off legume pasture. The pick of the group is kept for possible showing at the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago. The remainder of the lambs are marketed in early fall. Feeder lambs are purchased as early in the fall as available. Fulton prefers good-quality, black face Northwestren lambs, or white-face of the same quality.

* * *

Buys all his hay. Not a load of hay is put up on Fulton's farm. "I believe I can make more by following this practice," says Fulton. "This method increases my soil fertility by plowing under green legumes, and allows me to keep more ewes. If I made hay on my farm, I would have to cut my ewe flock in half."

Fulton buys the hay standing. Last year he installed a barn dryer and now chops his hay and blows it into the barn. This method saves valuable leaves and makes the hay more palatable. He figures it costs about $1 per ton to dry the hay.

Fulton also raises some hogs which wrecks the idea of many farmers who claim that sheep and hogs won't mix. "Hogs and sheep go well together," says Fulton. "Sheep are forage and roughage eaters; hogs take care of the concentrated feeds. They supplement each other."

What Fulton has done with sheep, most any farmer can do with the proper care and know-how. With wool and mutton prices shooting at an all-time high, more farmers are finding it profitable to raise sheep, even on corn-hog land.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lazier of Mattoon were dinner guests last Saturday evening of Mrs. Caroline Ackland and on Sunday they were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Fell.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Rapp left Saturday for a couple of weeks vacation. They went to Minneapolis, Minn., to visit their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Olson, and from there will take a trip into Canada.

Mrs. Hannah Halsne is spending this week in Pawpaw with her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Halsne.

Mrs. L. D. Hemenway, Mrs. Glenn Fowler and Mrs. Ora Chambers were visitors in Dixon Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Beitel and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Fuchs and daughters were dinner guests Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wilson, Polo. The dinner was in honor of the birthday of Mrs. Beitel's father John Wilson, of Polo.

Mrs. C. C. Macklin and daughter, Kathleen, and Mrs. Clarence Knutson, Eunice Knutson, and Mrs. J. J. Macklin attended a miscellaneous shower last Saturday afternoon at the Community House in Byron in honor of Mrs. Dean Macklin a recent bride.

We're Cool; South, West Still Bake

By The Associated Press

The nation's weather map was a study in contrasts today.

While the southern states, the Ohio valley and the Central Atlantic seaboard continued to swelter in temperatures around 100 degrees or higher, cool air had overspread the northern and central states.

McAlester, Okla., and Presidio, Tex., had 108 yesterday. Magnolia, Ark., had 107, and readings of 100 or more were commonplace. Agriculturists said the continued hot spell threatens heavy cotton crop damage in Mississippi and Louisiana.

The cooler air meanwhile had spread into Pennsylvania, Ohio, Northern Illinois and Indiana, and into Missouri and Kansas. In Chicago, a summer's high of 92.3 was hit yesterday afternoon, but the thermometer then dipped more than 20 degrees in a few hours.

Showers fell early today in Missouri, Eastern Ohio, North and Western Pennsylvania, New York, and at several spots in the Northern Plains. A light drizzle fell from Northeastern Iowa eastward across Southern Michigan.

Senator Capehart Gets Letter Flailing Controls Amendment

WASHINGTON, (AP) — A free-swinging letter from President Truman to a Republican senator has added a new punch to the administration's campaign for changes in the price control law.

Mr. Truman told Senator Capehart (R-Ind) he doubts whether Capehart himself understands an amendment he sponsored when the 1950 control law was remodeled a month ago. Bluntly, he informed the senator that amendment and two others the White House wants repealed are "wrong" and have no business in the act.

Capehart read the president's letter to the senate last night and told his colleagues with a wry grin:

Joins Immortals

"I now join the immortals, in that I've received a letter from the president of the United States."

As for a letter Capehart had written the president last Monday, Mr. Truman brushed that off as "strictly a political document intended to offset the terrible Capehart amendment."

The Indiana senator cracked back that the president has made clear he won't guarantee a reduction in the cost of living even if congress gives him everything he asks. He also said that since congress had approved all three disputed amendments, "any criticism he directs against me is of course applicable to all members of the house and senate."

10-Day Delay

Meanwhile, there was no chance for even a start of action to modify or repeal the sections for 10 days. The senate banking committee adjourned yesterday until Sept. 10 after two days of hearings, and the house won't be back from its vacation until Sept. 12.

Nevertheless Senator Maybank (D-SC), the banking committee chairman, forecast that some kind of "clarifying" amendments would come before congress without great delay.

Three Provisos

Here are the three provisos that Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson and other stabilization officials say make the present law practically unworkable:

1. The so-called Capehart amendment (it actually was written by six senators representing both parties). It allows the seller to pass on to the consumer all cost increases between the start of the Korean war and July 26, 1951.

2. The Herlong amendment, by Rep. Herlong (D-Fla), which prohibits price ceilings while do not allow wholesalers and retailers the same percentage of profits they earned before the Korean trouble.

3. A ban against federal livestock slaughtering quotas.

Controls Won't Stop New Home Building, NAHB Says

To Use New Methods in Construction

Government's New Material Control Plan Explained

Reports that Federal restrictions now limit new home construction to three-room cottages or "stripped" housing are so much poppy-cock, the nation's "Number One" builder said yesterday.

W. P. "Bill" Atkinson, president of the National Association of Home Builders, said builders should be able to build attractive homes of average size under the new regulations.

"Furthermore," said Atkinson, "a million new homes could be built in 1952, using only two per cent of the nation's total production of steel, seven per cent of copper and 1½ per cent of aluminum. New housing will use only a 'drop in the bucket' of materials. We take nothing away from the defense effort."

Atkinson, in Washington to confer with housing officials, admitted the government's new controlled material plan, which limits the amount of certain types of metals used in a home, was highly complicated and had caused confusion in most quarters.

Roughly, CMP gives the home builder a priority for materials. CMP will allow the building industry to secure critical metal items in competition with all other consumers of such metals.

Even though warehouses are now bulging with copper and steel items for construction today, federal officials were convinced that housing would be stopped in its tracks next winter and spring unless builders were given a priority to buy scarce metals.

New Restrictions

Atkinson reported the new restrictions limit a single family house to 1800 pounds of carbon steel and 35 pounds of copper. Not counted in the maximum poundages are many already fabricated steel and copper products, which may be used in any quantity available.

Such items in the latter category, Atkinson said, include finish hardware, water heaters, rough fittings, plumbing trim, weatherstripping, steel sash, septic tanks, furnaces, electrical panels and outlets and many other important metal items.

Products which do count against the poundage maximum limit are such items as nails, reinforcing bars, sheet metal for flashing, steel pipe for water supply and heating and steel tubing for electrical conduit.

Atkinson said builders could use structural steel I-beams and lintels in housing started prior to October 1.

No aluminum "A" products, such as nails, siding, pipe, etc., can be used in new homes, Atkinson reported, because the defense program has already ordered more than the known supply of aluminum.

However, aluminum "B" products, such as aluminum duct work, hardware, electrical fixtures, insect screens, etc., will not be restricted.

Need 'End' Products

Builders may use these materials provided they are able to find these "end" products.

Atkinson agreed that the new rules will require more ingenuity in construction techniques but pointed out that builders, within the past five years, have become very experienced at the drawing board and will successfully overcome this latest obstacle to home construction.

"There will be no sacrifice of quality in new housing. Buyers can purchase with utmost confidence."

He said that CMP, because of its demand for builder ingenuity in design and construction techniques, might well uncover some new building methods which would tend to reduce or level off the present rising cost of home constructions.

CMP does not prohibit the construction of multi-family rental projects, the building executive pointed out. Builders wishing to start such projects request authorization by submitting an application to their nearest FHA field office.

Rental projects approved will receive priorities for controlled materials, he pointed out.

Spot Watering Home Gardens

When water pressure is low and there is little water available for sprinkling home gardens, try "spot watering." This is done by using a sprinkling can and watering only around each plant rather than indiscriminately spraying an entire plot.

Home Owners Question Box

Q—What can I do about grease spattering on the kitchen wall in back of my stove?

A—You might cover the area in back of the stove with a sheet of aluminum. A less expensive remedy, however, is to apply a coat of pure white shellac. A wet rag then will remove the grease spots.

Q—I expect to put on a new roof and redecorate my home. What colors would you suggest for a story-and-a-half wood frame Colonial house?

A—While there are various color combinations that would look attractive, one especially suited for a house of Colonial type architecture such as you describe calls for blue-green blend asphalt shingles for the roof with white on the sidewalls and window shutters painted dark green. This pleasing color contrast will be enhanced by painting the chimney white, possibly with a narrow band of dark green as an added touch.

Q—In how many ways can wood grains be matched for high style furniture?

A—Hardwood face veneers used in furniture and wall paneling are matched in three basic ways, known as book-match, end-match and slide-match, but many additional designs are achieved through combinations or variations of these basic methods. The art of veneer matching has been so perfected that the designer may achieve almost any effect desired, utilizing the exquisite figures of rare woods to the fullest.

Q—How much top soil is needed for a lawn.

A—A minimum of six inches of top soil is recommended for a good lawn.

Good Idea To Remodel

Higher down payments required on new home purchase contracts, shorter periods for mortgage financing and other government controls designed to curb residential consruction, plus general inflationary pressures, have been causing a sharp increase in realty values.

Many home owners today are finding it more profitable and more economical to modernize their homes than to buy new homes. Others are buying older houses with the intention of remodeling.

Check Soundness

Before buying an old house, the foundation, roof and framing should be checked carefully to make sure the structure is basically sound and can be remodeled economically.

Cracks in plaster walls generally indicate that the foundation is settled. Almost any building will settle to some extent, and hairline cracks are not serious; however, new cracks in an old house probably indicates the building is continuing to settle. Sticking doors, sagging door frames and uneven floors also indicate foundation weakness. Foundation walls need to be checked for bad cracks and for dampness.

Roof Deck Vital

In examining the roof, the important thing is the roof deck. While re-roofing may be necessary, this is not expensive if the roof deck is sound.

Look at the joists. Light joists are a sign of flimsy construction throughout the house. The joists can be checked in the basement. If the cross braces between joists are nailed solidly, it is likely that nailing in other parts of the house also is adequate. Make sure the framing is properly nailed.

World movie theaters, according to the National Geographic Society, provide one seat for every 44 persons on earth.

Dewey vs. Taft

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey is quoted as supporting Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Republican nomination for president but planning to be a candidate himself if Eisenhower is unavailable or cannot get the Republican nomination.

• • •

Dewey is said to be ready to do anything in his power to block the nomination of Senator Robert Taft for president. Dewey says he is an internationalist and that is why he favors Eisenhower. He claims that General Ike is a Republican at heart but that he feels that no matter what his party affiliations are his internationalist leanings are more important than anything else. Governor Dewey also is quoted at being opposed to the views of Gen. Douglas MacArthur and an interviewer says that Dewey remarked that if he (Dewey) had been president he would have fired MacArthur long before Truman did.

• • •

In our opinion, the surest way for the Republican party to avoid the responsibility of assuming control of the administration is to nominate Dewey. He has repeatedly demonstrated his ineffectuality as a candidate for president.

• • •

As for Taft, we think he has more brains and more courage and more ability than anyone in Washington. We think he can be elected if nominated and he is the only man we know of who is capable of pulling this great nation out of the deplorable and dangerous plight in which it finds itself.

Return to Conscience

On his 77th birthday, August 10, Herbert Hoover found himself in the midst of a resurgence for integrity of office and independence o fthe American citizen.

Herbert Hoover went down 19 years ago, and with him the concept that government should serve men to find their own way. A new concept was developed that stood 180 degrees from that position: Government should rule the lives of its citizens. There are government regulations, government bureaucracy, government loans, government borrowing, government spending, deficit financing, and heavy taxing. Bother a balanced budget or a national debt!

Herbert Hoover, meanwhile, assumed a role he believed the due of every American—he felt free to step into any issue and speak what he believed to be the truth, clearly, vigorously, incisively. By this action he became known as "elder statesman"—a sort of "conscience of the Nation."

Now, in Herbert Hoover's 77th year—and in the 19th year of Democrat administration—America is beginning to look to its conscience in untangling its national affairs.

Warning in Advance

The other day a truck and car collided on a four-lane highway leading northwest from New York City into the Catskill mountain resort area. The truck overturned and blocked all lanes.

What followed is an eye-opener. For six and a half hours, traffic was stalled for a distance of 16 miles. Altogether, an estimated 15,000 automobiles were tied up. The wrecking crews reached the scene of the accident only with the greatest difficulty.

Civil defense authorities in our big cities with crowded highway exits ought to take note. Imagine the chaos if such a minor mishap had occurred as sequel to an atom bomb attack on New York.

The number of persons needed to operate Loran stations, which enable mariners at sea to get their geographical location by radio waves, has been cut to half by new automatic equipment.

RUTH MILLETT

Woman Shopper Needs No Defense From Mere Man

An enthusiastic press agent thinks he has a real "find" for me—and what a story it will make!

He actually has a client who is prepared to say that women shoppers aren't such heels after all. Or to use the press-agent's slightly more tactful words, that he is sure my women readers would be interested in this "champion of the female shopper."

No thanks. The "female shopper" doesn't need any champion.

She does the bulk of the family spending, so she is important. She usually does a good job of it, too.

When Mrs. America tucks her purse under her arm and starts out to shop she usually gets her money's worth.

For one thing she is tireless. If five stores don't have exactly what she wants, she is willing to trudge on to the sixth.

SHE'S NOBODY'S DUPE

And she is hard to fool. She may insist that the grocer plug the watermelon, but she brings home a ripe one. She may take a lot of a salesman's time by asking such questions as "Is it washable? Is it guaranteed? Will it stand strong sunlight?" But when she has finished with her questions she knows considerable about what she is buying.

She is a thrifty shopper. She is a tireless reader of newspaper advertising, because she likes to take advantage of bargains. And she won't hesitate to walk a block to get one item at a store, simply because she knows she can save a few cents on that one particular thing.

And, like an elephant, the woman shopper never forgets. If she makes a bad buy she doesn't forget it. She avoids that particular store or that particular brand of merchandise in the future, like the plague.

Almost any woman could teach almost any man an awful lot about shopping.

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD —(NEA)— The Laugh Parade:

Suspension story of the week:

Shortly after Tyrone Power turned down the starring role in Fox's "Lydia Bailey," and was taken off salary for the action, he appeared at a Hollywood party with wifey, Linda Christian.

Ty's spectacular British shirt, a tucked, pleated and ruffled number, drew gasps from the other guests. Among the goggle-eyed was his studio boss, Darryl Zanuck, who took one look at the shirt and sent this note to Ty by the hostess:

"May I have that shirt for 'Lydia Bailey.'?"

Ty grinned and relayed his answer:

"You can have the shirt Mr. Zanuck, but not the body."

A Hollywood screenwriter, sitting with Shelley Winters and a party of actors at a night spot, noticed Shelley raised her orbs with unabashed interest as a handsome profile boy entered the room.

"You go for him?" asked the scribe.

There was a glint in Shelley's eyes as she answered:

"Yeah. But I'm not going to do anything about it. I'd only get involved. He's SINGLE.!"

WON'T OVER-SELL ACTORS

Dick Erdman tells it about Producer Brynie Foy and Director Lew Seiler.

When Dick was called in for a role in "The Tanks Are Coming," both men smiled happily and declared that he was exactly right.

Then their faces fell. They explained to Dick that Jack L. Warner had vetoed a number of actors they had selected. Neither one of them could understand why. The actors were all tailor-made for the roles.

"Perhaps," mused Foy, "we are over-selling the actors to Mr. Warner."

"Yes, that could be," agreed Seiler.

"No more over-selling then," Foy said. "From now on, Lew, just tell Mr. Warner that the actor we have in mind is GREAT and shut up!"

• • •

Y. Frank Freeman, the genial head of Paramount, is a product of Atlanta, Ga., and is steeped in the traditions of the south despite the years he has spent north of the Mason-Dixon line.

At a movietown dinner, an important Republican dignitary addressed a gathering of movie executives. Freeman listened with great interest until the speaker touched upon the recall of General Douglas MacArthur by President Truman.

As the speaker intoned the line, "MacArthur is the greatest general in the history of our country." Freeman's face clouded.

Afterwards he made his way to the guest of honor and said:

"I enjoyed your speech, sir, but didn't you ever hear of General Robert E. Lee?"

John Barrymore, Jr., will probably wish that his name was John Smith when he reports for Army duty, but the Barrymore sprig is an expert at squelching hecklers.

Not long ago, another young actor decided that young John needed the barbs-and-shafts treatment.

"Ah, the great John Barrymore, Jr.," he taunted. "Should I bow when I come into the same room with you?"

John, wounded to the quick, was speechless for a moment. Then the wit that runs through the Barrymore clan saved him and, striking a dramatic pose, he floored his opponent with:

"Just stand where you are, peasant, and DON'T bruise the profile!"

JANET JOLTED

Screenwriter Martin Ragaway tells it about Janet Leigh.

Janet and Tony Curtis often drop in on Ragaway at his bachelor apartment.

The first time they called, Janet peered into Ragaway's icebox and gasped at the wilted lettuce, stale cheese and general disorder. "Just like a bachelor," she howled as she rolled up her sleeves and began to clean the trays.

Thereafter it became a ritual and her immaculate feminine touch was always in evidence around the Ragaway icebox after a visit.

But one day she was beaten to the punch by a maid who serviced the entire apartment and she opened the door of the chill-receptacle to find it in apple-pie order.

Tears in her eyes, Janet pointed an accusing finger at Ragaway and cried.

"You've been UNFAITHFUL!"

Jacoby on Canasta

Okay to Trap Your Opponent

"We recently had a dispute about ethics," writes a Pittsburgh fan. "We were playing family Canasta, the two husbands being partners against the two wives. After we'd been playing for some time, the pack was born frozen, with both sides needing 120 points for the first meld. Nobody melded for a few rounds, but finally one of the men put down two jokers and two kings from his hand.

"The next two players made safe discards, and then the girl at the melder's right discarded a king. The melder promptly produced another pair of kings from his hand and tried to take the discard pile. That started quite an argument.

"It is conceded that the play described is perfectly legal. The big question is whether it was ethical. Does a sportsman try to trap his opponents into making a mistake? If this play came up in a godo club, what would be the attitude of the members towards the man who made the deceptive play?"

Calm down, ladies. Such a play is perfectly ethical and sporting. In a good club, the members might be too polite to snicker at the player who got trapped, but I've heard a lot of horse laughs even in the best clubs. The members would certainly not object to the play or to the man who made it; they'd think better of him for being clever enough to make it.

In most games it is possible for you to set traps for the opponents. Very often the trap play doesn't work whereas some perfectly straightforward play would have worked. You take your risks and you're entitled to your rewards.

When you fall for an opponent's trap play, resist the impulse to get sore. Don't holler for the cops. Just remark "A very obvious play. I gave you credit for more subtlety." And wait for a chance to get your revenge by outwitting the trapper later on.

• • •

Q—The other night a player discarded a jack in a big frozen pack, saying "There must be seven jacks in there by now." Actually, he still had a pair of jacks in his hand. On the next play a jack was thrown to him, and he took the pack. Was his statement unfair?

A—I should say it was. A player has no right to make a misleading statement, especially when he knows it is false. If you want to fool the opponents by your play, that's all right, but you mustn't fool them by what you say.

Hint Kennedy May Be Cadet Benefactor

SOUTH BEND, Ind., (AP)—The University of Notre Dame isn't saying whether Joseph P. Kennedy is putting up the money for the expelled West Point cadets to go to school at Notre Dame.

An anonymous benefactor has offered to pay board, room and tuition for any of the 90 ousted cadets who can meet Notre Dame entrance requirements, need financial help and will stay out of intercollegiate athletics.

A New York newspaper columnist said yesterday friends are speculating that Kennedy, former ambassador to Great Britain, is the donor.

University officials declined to comment on the report. The Rev. John Cavanaugh, Notre Dame president, now in California, refused to affirm or deny the report or to give any indication of the donor's identity.

The columnist, Frank Farrell of New York World-Telegram and Sun, said Father Cavanaugh made a quick visit to Kennedy's summer home at Hyannis, Mass., shortly after the West Point cribbing scandal broke.

Farrell added that Kennedy also was the secret donor of a $300,000 scholarship fund for needy students in Notre Dame's business school.

The cadet offer may cost the benefactor plenty. With today the deadline for applying, 42 to 90 had sent in applications up to yesterday. If that should be accepted, the cost would be $63,000 a year.

Cugat's Singer Wants Chance to Appear in Court

SANTA MONICA, Calif., (AP) —Abe Lane, 19-year-old thrush and central figure in the Xavier Cugat marital triangle, wants her "day in court" to disprove charges made against her by Cugat's wife.

Her lawyer said so yesterday in opposing an order for a deposition answering the charges, specifically that Miss Lane was disrobed in front of Cugat in a Chicago hotel room.

Superior Judge Orlando Rhodes continued the hearing for 12 days.

He ordered a deposition from Cugat, who was not represented at the proceedings. The bandleader claims California courts have no jurisdiction over him because he is a New York resident.

Winter-summer temperatures in Madrid, Spain, vary between 10 and 110 degrees.

Questions and Answers

Q—Does part of the wheel of a moving train stand still for a moment as it touches the rails?

A—Yes, if there is no slippage. A point on the rim of the wheel is traveling at twice the train speed when it is on top, and is stationary for an instant when at the bottom in contact with the rail face. A point on the edge of the flange, which extends beyond the rim, is actually moving backwards for a brief period as it passes below the top of the rail.

• • •

Q—Under how many Presidents was Andrew Mellon Secretary of the Treasury?

A—Three — Harding, Coolidge and Hoover.

• • •

Q—How acute is the hearing of the deer?

A—The ear of the deer is superior to that of the hunter in hearing faint sounds, largely because its outer ear is movable and can be turned to the best position to pick up a sound.

• • •

Q—How long should it take to play Ravel's "Bolero"?

A—Ravel expressed his own attitude toward the "Bolero" by stating that it constituted an experiment in a very special and limited direction and issued a warning to the effect that the piece should last 17 minutes.

Family Wine Maker Needs To File Form

The grape season is at hand and Daniel J. Conerty, district supervisor, alcohol tax unit, Chicago, warned prospective wine makers that although the head of the family is allowed to produce tax free 200 gallons of wine per year for the use of his own family, he must first register his intention to produce such wine with the alcohol tax unit, Bureau of Internal Revenue.

Get Form 1541

The prospective wine maker should secure Form 1541 from the district supervisor, Alcohol Tax Unit, 734 New Post Office Building, Chicago 7, and file it with the district supervisor five days before the production of wine is started. The authority granted by reason of filing Form 1541 is effective for one year only—July 1 to June 30—and a new form must be filed each year in which it is desired to produce wine for family use.

For Family Use

Conerty stated that the exemption given under the federal law for the production of taxfree wine is only for family use and does not apply to an unmarried person, unless he qualifies as head of a family, or to a married man living apart from his family, or to the production of wine by corporations or partnerships for commercial purposes. Each year, Conerty pointed out, a number of persons who have made wine for family use are taxed at the regular rate, according to the alcoholic content, and face criminal prosecution for the reason that they fail to register their intention to produce wine for family use.

Sulfur found in Texas and Louisiana deposits is 99 per cent pure.

THE DOCTOR SAYS:

Chickenpox Mild Disease, But, Watch for Scarring

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

The mildest and probably the most common of the contagious diseases of childhood is chickenpox. This disease like the others common to children is likely to come in epidemics but it is probably less of a problem in schools because so many have had it before they reach school age.

Chickenpox is rather a curious disease. Until about four centuries ago, it was often confused with the much more serious smallpox. Although both are caused by viruses, resistance to one does not give resistance to the other.

But chickenpox does have some peculiar relation to another virus disease—shingles or herpes zoster. Just what this is remains somewhat obscure, but children have apparently contracted chickenpox by being exposed to shingles, and grownups have sometimes developed shingles after being exposed to chickenpox.

Because chickenpox is so contagious, it is almost impossible to prevent children from being exposed. Fortunately the disease is usually, though not always, mild and about the only thing one needs to be concerned about it the prevention of scarring of the skin from scratching the blister-like pox.

For this purpose, soothing lotions or powers are often helpful. Older children must be warned against scratching, but those who have to have the hands bandaged or splints put on the arms to keep them from scratching.

LOCAL RULES DIFFER

It usually takes from ten to fifteen days for symptoms of the disease to develop after the child has been exposed. As is true for the other contagious diseases, communities differ on how long they require a youngster to be isolated.

The local rules must be followed, of course, but the American Public Health Association has expressed the opinion that there is no danger of passing the disease to others six days after the appearance of the first pox.

It seems to me that chickenpox could well be studied more than it has in recent years. Any disease which is so common might someday become more dangerous and it certainly has interesting features even though, ordinarily, recovery is complete.

Dr. Jordan will answer questions from his readers in a special column once a week. Watch for it.

Wage Freeze Thawing Again And Millions Added to Payrolls

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK —(AP)— A new wave of wage increases is starting to roll.

It follows revision by congress last month of the wage-price control law. The administration interprets the new law as permitting both wages and prices to rise within limits.

At least $60 million a year is being added to the purchasing power of some three million workers whose pay moves up as the government's cost of living index rises. And this summer it went up enough to give them one cent more an hour. The government has approved the tieing of pay to the escalator of living costs, and more such wage contracts may follow. The escalator contract is aimed at offsetting any drop in the amount of goods a dollar will buy.

Wage Freeze Thawing

Considerably more millions of dollars is being added to the purchasing power of other workers under negotiated wage increases announced this week. The government approves these under its policy of thawing out the original wage freeze. And some 100,000 non-ferrous metal workers are expecting negotiators to end the copper strike soon—perhaps with a 16-cent an hour pay boost.

This week, too, the government has been lifting ceilings on the prices of various items—making a further rise in the cost of living index possible.

Another Round

This could mean, of course, another round of inflation. But not all of these millions of dollars will flow into the channels of trade. Taxes will take some. Part will go into savings.

Millions of workers will have more money to spend, however, on better food, better clothes, household appliances, the education of their children—in short, in improving their standard of living.

Others are benefitting, too. Dividends paid out in the first five months of this year were 11 per cent ahead of last year. They mean $2.5 billion of purchasing power for the holders of stocks.

Other wage rises, besides the one in copper, are on the fire.

GE Offer

General Electric is offering to tie its payroll to the cost of living index and to boost pay 2½ per cent for its 207,000 workers in 119 plants around the country. This would raise average pay five cents to $1.80 an hour and cost from $25 million to $30 million more.

The maritime unions are asking government approval of an eight per cent pay boost, which would be above the wage ceilings.

PETER EDSON'S WASHINGTON NEWS NOTEBOOK

Capital West Pointers Hoping Truman Doesn't Lighten Sentence on Cribbers

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Many West Pointers in Washington are hoping the White House won't weaken over the cribbing scandal at the Military Academy. It is noteworthy that every high official in the Pentagon who reviewed the case approved expelling the cheaters. If President Truman should let the cribbers off with some light sentence like a year's suspension, the old grads say it would wreck the honor system.

They maintain that it's necessary to have the code of conduct in West Point one step or two above the standards at other institutions of learning. If it were not for this difference, there would be no point in having the service schools to train professional officers. The job might just as well be turned over to ROTC, Reserve Officer Training schools, in state and private colleges and universities. And that would mean the end of established military tradition.

• • •

Would Be Outcasts

One other factor not considered in handling the cases of the 90 West Point cribbers is the future treatment they would get from other cadets at the Academy. It's an old custom that when a cadet breaks the honor code, none of the other cadets will speak to him except in line of duty.

This silent treatment and complete social ostracism by the cadets themselves is far tougher than any disciplinary action administered by higher authorities. It breaks the spirit of many youngsters. If they can't right their wrong, they resign from the Academy or flunk out.

If the 90 cribbers were allowed to remain in West Point, they'd be branded forever as outcasts by their fellow officers.

• • •

Ferguson in Hot Water

Sen. Homer Ferguson of Michigan got a jolt when he read that Duncan McDonald, Flint, Mich., football star, had been given a visit to West Point, all expenses paid. As a result of this visit, McDonald was tutored and passed entrance examinations to the Military Academy.

Senator Ferguson knew that his own alma mater, University of Michigan, was also after McDonald. But some time previously, at West Point Coach Blaik's request, Senator Ferguson had made McDonald a second alternate, all his original appointments to West Point having been used up.

Fearing the wrath of University of Michigan athletic officials for giving a potential grid star to the Academy, Senator Ferguson called the office of Secretary of the Army Frank Pace to find what had happened. Pace revealed that under a special law, he had authority to give appointments to qualified alternates of congressmen. And that's how McDonald got in.

• • •

Appropriation Bills Misleading

Congress, already two months behind on passage of this year's money bills, may require another month or more to finish job. On ten appropriation bills which have passed the House, the president's request for $76.7 billion authorizations were cut to $70.7 billion. While this looks like a $6 billion saving, the figure is meaningless.

It does not include $6.5 billion authorizations for military construction. It does not include the $8.5 billion foreign military assistance program. It includes nothing for carrying on the war in Korea, if that becomes necessary. It includes nothing for an expanded Air Force, which may cost $10 billion this year as a starter.

• • •

Sad Budget Cutting Record

U. S. Budget total for current fiscal year may go way over the $71.6 billion figure President Truman sent to congress last January. There are two main reasons. One is new items of expenditure, like Rep. Carl Vinson's proposal to increase Air Force from presently authorized 95 wings to 163. The other is that congressional record on budget cutting now looks pretty sad.

As a matter of record, President Truman's Budget Bureau has now trimmed January estimates by over $3 billion, which is more than Congress has been able to economize to date.

In statement before Senate Finance Committee at end of June, Assistant Budget Director Elmer B. Staats revealed that Truman administration estimates for spending in fiscal 1952 totaled only $68.4 billion.

Most of the $3.2 billion cuts were made in the rate of defense spending. It isn't moving as fast as anticipated. Result is that actual outlay of cash for defense is now estimated at $48 billion this year, instead of over $51 billion.

• • •

Open Educational Campaign

UNESCO—United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization—has tackled the job of bringing what it calls "fundamental education" to the world's one billion illiterates. This comprises half the world's population.

They can neither read nor write, they suffer from malnutrition and endemic disease, from underproduction of the necessities of life and over reproduction of people with a life expectancy of less than 30 years. While UNESCO has been severely criticized for many of its cultural boondoggles, it has a real problem ahead in this attack on illiteracy.

With limited funds, UNESCO has embarked on a 12-year program to train 5,000 fundamental education specialists. They must be prepared to teach not only the three R's, but also fundamental farming, sanitation, handicrafts and home economics. To start the program, five training centers will be set up in South America, Africa, Middle East, India and Far East.

First of the centers has now been opened at Patzcuaro, Mexico. Former Mexican President Lazaro Cardenas donated one of his estates for the experiment. It will train 1,000 teachers.

• • •

More Work for RFC

While there was a lot of sentiment in congress for liquidating Reconstruction Finance Corporation, following disclosures by Sen. J. William Fulbright's investigating committee, RFC now finds that its responsibilities have been added to.

This comes through congressional creation of a new Small Defense Plants Administration. It will have a $17,500 a year administrator, who will work under Mobilization Director C. E. Wilson. He didn't particularly want the new small business outfit. He didn't think it was necessary. But he said if congress created it, he'd take it and make it run.

A $50 million revolving fund was set up to finance defense loans to small business concerns. But the actual loans will be made by RFC, on recommendation of SDPA.

Is Scalding Necessary?

More research comes to us from the Minnesota Experiment Station backing up our recommendations that all vegetables be blanched and cooled before freezing.

This station tested asparagus, green beans and corn. One lot of each vegetable was prepared by the recommended scalding; another lot was frozen without pre-heating, and ears of corn were frozen husked and packed; also in the husk. The freezing was done at 10 degree fahrenheit followed by storage at zero F.

All vegetables frozen without pre-heating developed off-flavors within a month, but those scalded in advance showed little change. The unscalded green beans and asparagus lost their attractive color as well as their good flavor.

The green beans deteriorated in storage so that they were unpalatable in three weeks and unedible in four weeks. Corn in the husk was unpalatable by the time it was frozen. Corn; husked and packaged, but not pre-heated changed flavor in one week.

Ground T.V. Mast

Grounding the television antenna is urged by wiring specialists of the Rural Electrification Administration U.S.D.A. as a precaution against lightning damage.

This is even more important for our country people than in the city.

A ground is not difficult, but the specialists recommend securing a qualified electric serviceman.

Direct strikes of lightning on antennas are rare, but a more common damage is likely to occur when lightning strikes nearby and is drawn to the T.V. mast—for this spill-over of electricity—proper grounding is good insurance and a safety precaution.

For School Lunch

The time for packing school lunches has returned again. Are you using these suggestions in order to help in preparing those sandwiches which are the backbone of a packed lunch?

Chill too-soft bread in refrigerator, then it will be less apt to tear when you spread it with butter and fillings.

Soft butter or margarine spread on each slice of bread keep the fillings from soaking into the bread. Soft butter also goes further.

Add extra bits of seasoning to fillings that go between slices of bread. Several thin slices of meat are easier to eat than one thick slice.

Keep the lettuce for sandwiches crisp by wrapping it separately in wax paper.

Ues production line-procedure when you make up sandwiches. Spread butter on all the bread first; then spread the fillings. Cut through a stack of sandwiches all at once instead of one at a time.

Take advantage of various wrapping material and cartons that are on the market. There are handy plastic and cellophane bags, waxed paper, sandwich bags and other handy material. Have a special area to keep these handy to speed up the job.

Refrigerating And Freezing

When refrigerating sandwiches, never prepare them more than 24 hours in advance. Frozen sandwiches should not be kept more than a week in a refrigerator's freezing compartment, but in a freezer they can be kept several months.

All varieties of bread freeze and refrigerator satisfactorily. Your frozen sandwiches will thaw in an hour's time. If carried in the lunch box, they will keep other food fresh, crisp and cool for several hours.

The best fillings for frozen sandwiches are peanut butter, cheddar, American or cream cheese, sliced or ground meat, fish or chicken. Don't use egg salad or sliced eggs. Freezing egg toughens, however it can be refrigerated over night.

Wrap sandwiches in wax paper or cellophane the usual way for freezing. Parchment paper sandwich bags do not keep sandwiches as well since they are not air tight. When holding sandwiches avoid soggy, moist fillings. It is best to wrap each sandwich separately in order to avoid flavor-mingling and defrosting difficulties.

Avoid using mayonnaise it soaks into bread badly and separates when frozen. Jelly, preserves, and honey will do the same.

Never use tomatoes and lettuce in any sandwiches that are going to be made up in advance. Carry them separately.

Freezing chicken salad sandwiches will tend to make the filling a little darker, but it is still very edible and satisfactory. This type sandwich keeps its color better when refrigerated.

Nutritious Fillings

1. Cottage cheese plus dried fruits as prunes, dates, raisins or apricots. Twice as much cheese as fruit.
2. Cottage cheese with peanut butter—add bits of cooked bacon or ham.
3. Peanut butter, orange juice and a bit of grated orange rind or marmalade creamed well together.
4. Add chopped Marischino cherries and nuts to softened cream cheese.
5. Blend ¼ cup peanut butter; ½ cup applesauce and dash of nutmeg.
6. Combine 1 cup ground carrots, ¼ cup peanut butter, salad dressing to soften; a little salt if needed.
7. Mash 1 cup cold baked beans, add a bit of finely chopped onion, celery and pickle. Add chili sauce, catsup or salad dressing to moisten.
8. Blend one cup chopped dried fruit (raisins or dates) ¼ cup chopped nuts and 2 tablespoons orange juice.

Helen Copenhaver, Bride of Jack Terry in Home Wedding

POLO — White tapers in flat candelabra, white Fuji chrysanthemums, huckleberry and magnolia greenery about the living room fireplace in the country home of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Copenhaver, comprised the decorative setting for the wedding of the Copenhavers' daughter, Helen Ann, to Jack R. Terry, last Friday afternoon.

Decorations consisted of a large bouquet of white Fuji chrysanthemums in the center of the mantel with a seven-branch candelabra at each side. Huckleberry which partially covered the windows at each side of the fireplace completed the simple but effective scheme.

Rev. Benjamin E. Bollman, pastor of the Presbyterian church, read the impressive double ring service at four o'clock in the presence of immediate members of the families and intimate friends of the couple. The bride was met at the foot of the stairs by her father who gave her in marriage.

French Organdy Gown

The bride was lovely in a floor length dress of French embroidered white organdy, styled with a closely fitted bodies, and hoop skirt. Her mitts were of white organdy. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis and lillies of the valley on a white prayer book. Her illusion veil was held in place by a cap of the same material.

Miss Molly Rideout, of Freeport, was the bride's maid of honor. Her dress was of white organdy, with a hoop skirt. She wore white mitts and carried white chrysanthemums, daisies and stems of wheat in a basket of natural colored straw.

The bridegroom's best man was Donald Hurdle of Rockford.

Mrs. Milbrey Mulnix was heard in a quarter hour of nuptial music after which Edmund W. Parrett sang "Through the Years," and "The Lord's Prayer."

With Grandmothers' Knife

A reception was given for the new Mr. and Mrs. Terry after the ceremony. Mrs. Donald Hurdle, Rockford, poured, and Mrs. Frank Wright, Neenah, Wis., served. The bride cut the wedding cake with her maternal grandmother's silver cake knife. Miss Patricia Stuff was in charge of the guest book.

Mrs. Terry is a graduate of Colorado college, Colorado Springs, Colo., where she was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Terry, is a graduate of the University of Minnesota. He was an ensign in the navy during World War II.

Editor of Newspaper

For her going away costume the bride chose a navy suit with navy accessories. After their honeymoon at the Lake of the Ozarks, Mr. and Mrs. Terry will be at home to their friends in Lamoni, Iowa, where Mr. Terry is editor and publisher of the Lamoni Chronicle.

This Labor Day Sees Activity In Dixon Homes

For this year's Labor Day weekend many Dixonites will be entertaining while others are entertained. A number of townspeople will be taking their final jaunt of the season to nearby Wisconsin lakes while others will have one of their last outings at parks and cottages. Members of the Dixon Country club and of Plum Hollow and their guests also will be taking advantage of the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Fluehr Jr., and son, David, and Mrs. Etna Kuhlman all of Bay City, Mich., are spending this weekend with Mr. Fluehr's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Fluehr.

Plum Hollow Dance

Holiday activities will begin this evening at Plum Hollow when the woman's organization will sponsor a dance. Dancing to begin at 9 o'clock will be to the music of Myrtle Bishop and her Pals.

Miss Lucy Badger went to Morrison today to spend Labor Day with her brother, Arthur Badger and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Rizner and daughter, Diana Lynn, left Wednesday for Michigan City, Ind., to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Blaker over the Labor Day holiday. They will return home Tuesday.

Dinner at Club

Labor Day for members of the Dixon Country club will be highlighted with a family dinner. Members and their guests will be attending the dinner at the club at 6:30 o'clock Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Rizner left today for Independence and Brandon, Ia. At Brandon they will attend a reunion where Mrs. Rizner will meet cousins from the states of Oregon and California which she hasn't seen for nearly 20 years. Their plans are to return home Labor Day.

Labor Day Golf

A 6:30 o'clock scramble dinner will be served at Plum Hollow following the Two Ball Mixed Foursome at the club Labor Day. Tee off time for the golf game will be 2 p.m.

Return From Europe

Dixonites will be interested to know that Mary Campbell and Margaret Knight, Dixon teachers, have returned from an eight week's trip to Europe. They were members of a party of 13 Illinois school teachers who took an Illinois State Normal University European field geography course this summer. The Illinois teachers covered 11,000 miles visiting seven countries.

In Church Work

Miss Donna Butterbaugh is at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Butterbaugh, near Dixon, for this holiday. Donna, who has been home for several weeks, finished a year's work as a Brethren volunteer service worker for the Church of the Brethren in June.

Oct. 1, she will report as a secretary at the German Student office in connection with the Brethren service at New Windsor, Maryland.

Senate Approves $7.2 Billion Foreign Aid Arms Program

FREIGHT TRAIN WRECK—The FBI was called in to investigate possible sabotage in the derailment of 29 cars wrecked in Quantico, Va. The derailment was caused by a heavy steel cylinder on the tracks which caught under the 12th car of the 121-car freight train. No one was injured

1.2 Billion Less Than Truman Original Plan

Program Over Hump Says Floor Leader; Must Vote Funds

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The Senate last night approved a $7,286,250,000 foreign aid program to bolster free-world defenses against Communism.

The total was $1,213,750,000 less than the $8,500,000,000 asked by President Truman. And it was $212,500,000 below the authorization passed earlier by the House.

A part of this may be restored by a senate-house conference committee which will meet later this month to iron out differences in the two measures.

Over the Hump

Senate Democratic Leader McFarland of Arizona said today that senate passage had put the foreign aid program "over the big hump," but many other senators insisted the main battle will come when congress gets down to actually voting the money to finance foreign assistance.

The bill that cleared the senate after two consecutive 12-hour sessions merely authorized the aid. Congress must put up the money later after the senate-house differences are adjusted.

Need Tax Increases

Senator Schoeppel (R-Kan) told a reporter today that the multi-billion dollar tax increase must get through congress before the foreign funds are voted.

Schoeppel was among five Republicans who shouted "no" last night on final passage. Others were Senators Capehart (Ind), Ecton (Mont), Kem (Mo) and Langer (ND).

Most of the funds under both the senate and house bills would go for arms, airplanes, tanks and other military aid items.

The senate earmarked $5,976,000,000 for such spending, and $1,310,250,000 for economic aid. Much of this would go for building plants, factories and other facilities for defense production overseas.

Europe, where Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is organizing united anti-Communist forces, would get the bulk of both military and economic funds under both bills.

One big difference between the Senate and House bills is in administration of the multi-billion dollar program. The House voted to set up a powerful new single administrator, outside the state department.

The Senate rejected a similar proposal 50 to 18. Instead, it approved a three-way split in purse-string control.

Ready for the "Tiny Tyke" Contest

ALL SET FOR THE "TINY TYKE" beauty show is Veronica Catalina, a Grand Detour youngster here being admired by members of the Dixon Chamber of Commerce. Texas County Suffers From 'Devil's Grip'

BONHAM, TEX. — (AP) — "Devils grip," a virus disease, has caused hundreds in Fannin county a painful time since Aug. 1.

There have been no deaths, and Dr. Joe A. Risser, head of a clinic here, said that while the disease is painful for a time, it fades away.

Risser estimated 5,000 to 8,000 cases. Two other doctors said they thought the estimate may be too high, but said "there have been quite a few cases."

Dr. George W. Cox, the state health officer, said in Austin yesterday the outbreak in Fannin county was a "light epidemic." He estimated 1,000 cases had been reported.

The disease is also known as pleurodynia. Doctors here said it begins with high fever, causes severe pains in the chest or abdomen and lasts two or three days.

Most Fannin county patients have remained at home for treatment.

Risser said the number of cases developing apparently had fallen off some.

Blonde Eva Ducks Chance To Be a Veep

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, (AP) — Blonde 29-year-old Eva Peron tearfully gave up her chance last night to become the first woman vice-president in the Western Hemisphere.

The dynamic wife of President Juan D. Peron announced that she could not accept the Peronista party nomination.

Speaking over the radio from the presidential residence, the woman who has guided the nation's labor policies, said she had reached an "irrevocable decision to renounce the high honor" of running with her husband in the Nov. 11 election.

It had been reported that her nomination by the Peronistra party was opposed by some sections of the army because of the possibility she might become president and commander-in-chief. Even a sizeable group within the Peronista party was said to oppose putting her name on a Peron-Peron ticket—a nomination which virtually would have assured election.

Mrs. Peron stepped aside in favor of white-haired Hortensio Quijano, who has been Peron's silent vice-presidential partner since his election in 1946.

Argentina's first lady—the first to take an active part in public affairs—was nominated by the party Aug. 22 after 250,000 pro-government workers and party followers loudly demanded that she and her husband "rule Argentina forever."

Gets Alimony

Temporary alimony, child support and attorney's fees were awarded to Mrs. Bernice Jones, Grand Detour, in Circuit court yesterday by Judge Robert Bracken.

Mrs. Jones is sueing Glenn H. Jones for divorce. She was granted $20 a week for herself and her child.

Italy Quakes Spread Terror, Few Are Hurt

ROME —(AP)— A series of earthquakes spread terror in the towns and cities of central Italy today.

There was some property damage, but few casualties and no deaths were reported.

The epicenter was 100 miles northeast of Rome in the Gran Sasso mountain area.

Residents of Ascoli Piceno, a city of 40,000 fled in panic from their homes and ran to pray at the temple of St. Emidio, patron saint against earthquakes. Similar scenes took place at Teramo. At Gualdo, a town of 2,000, a man was hurt by a falling church cornice. Older buildings cracked and a church steeple was damaged at Mogiliano, a town of 5,000. Macerta, with a population of 28,000, had water mains broken.

At Montaldo the roof of the convent of St. Francis collapsed.

Wife of Pirate Pitcher Attempts Suicide in Home

PITTSBURGH, (AP) — Mrs. Goldie Queen, 27-year-old wife of Pittsburgh Pirate pitcher Mel Queen, tried to end her life today because "she's sick and tired of baseball," Police Sergeant Carl Hillenbrand reported.

The officer said Mrs. Queen was found semi-conscious in the living-room of her home shortly after Queen had 'phoned a neighbor from St. Louis to "see that everything is all right."

The Queen's three small children were not overcome by the gas which flowed full blast from a living room stove, Sergeant Hillenbrand declared.

Mrs. Queen was revived quickly and is reported in satisfactory condition at Pittsburgh's South Side hospital.

Her husband, who has lost eight and won five with the Pirates this season, is reported flying here from St. Louis.

Debt Drops

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The volume of consumer debt for installment buying dropped $57,000,000 in July—just before credit controls were relaxed by congressional direction, the federal reserve board reported yesterday.

Credit for installment purchases of autos went up $15,000,000 in July, but that was more than off-set by a decline in credit exemptions for television sets, refrigerators and other appliances.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mitchell of Toronto, Ontario, Canada, who came to Dixon to attend the funeral of his uncle, Tom Mitchell, will spend a few days in this city.

asking the court for the custody of the children.

Wakenight was granted a divorce from Mrs. Guinn in 1947. He obtained custody of the children with the decree. Later he gave Mrs. Guinn custody of the children in 1949 when he was unable to provide an adequate home because of his working hours. He also agreed to pay $80 a month towards support.

Husband Remarried

Wakenight remarried to a woman with three children and then entered suit to regain custody of his own two children.

Like King Solomon, Bracken arrived at a solution by questioning Mrs. Guinn and her present husband and Wakenight and his present wife.

Bracken asked Mrs. Guinn if she would have the two children in question if Wakenight didn't pay $80 a month for support.

"Yes, I would have them," she replied.

The next question was to Mr. Guinn: "Would you support your wife's children if no payment was made by their father," the judge asked.

He answered, "Yes."

Mrs. Wakenight was asked her financial position. She told the judge that she had a house and received meager social security payments to provide for her three children.

Wakenight then was questioned whether or not he knew if his present wife had three children when he married her.

"I did," was the reply.

"Are you willing to support those three children," asked Bracken.

"Yes," was Wakenight's answer.

"Well," the judge said, "you all answered just the way I expected you to. I am very impressed by what everybody said. The happiness of the father and of the mother will affect the children. I am not going to take them away from their mother."

Indicating that he believed that the amount of the support payments to be a factor in Wakenight's petition to regain the children, Bracken told his attorney that he would approve a reduction of support payments from $80 to $40 a month.

All this was done like King Solomon did—by asking questions.

More Lilies!

An Eldena resident joined the Easter lily-blooming-in-August brigade today.

Mrs. Mildred Lyle informed the Evening Telegraph that she planted two lily bulbs in May and now has seven Easter lilies blooming in her flower garden.

Mrs. Lyle's report was touched off by a story printed Thursday wherein a Dixon resident said that she had a lily blooming in her yard. That brought two more replies but Mrs. Lyle's seven blooms tops 'em all to date.

Issued License

Two marriage licenses were issued today by County Clerk Sterling D. Schrock to Richard P. Nelson, 33, Rock Island, and Mrs. Vanita F. Jackson, 34, Rock Island, and to Ralph D. Lewis, 33, Amboy, and Miss Arlene M. Kocher, Sublette.

K. S. B. Hospital

Admitted: Mrs. Anna Ammon, Paul Harms, Mrs. Margaret Nix, Mrs. Nina McGinnis and Mrs. Katherine Auguston, Dixon; Ray Brooks, Oregon, and Baby Judy Donavan, Princeton.

Discharged: Mrs. Marion Sanford, Jerry Curran, and Amel Vincent, Dixon; Mrs. Anna Mead, Amboy; Mrs. Lillie Ferguson, Rock Falls, and Mrs. Pearl Ohlewine, Polo.

Births: To Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Jenkins, 803 Jackson av., a son, Aug. 31.

Card of Thanks

I wish to express my sincere thanks to Dr. Caldarola, Dr. Murphy and Dr. Stackhouse and the nurses for their care and kindness and also the friends and relatives who remembered me with fruit, flowers, gifts and cards while I was a patient in KSB hospital.

Varied Holiday Sports Fare Awaits Dixonites

Vets, Reynolds Game Feature For Sunday

Harness Racing to Headline Ogle Fair Sports Schedule

Dixonites will find a varied and attractive sports fare awaiting them this holiday weekend.

Highlighting the local scene will be the double appearance Sunday of the Dixon VFW softball team, first in another baseball contest against the Reynolds Wire team, and then in a softball game against Sycamore.

The baseball game will start at 2 p.m. The softball contest will start at 8 p.m. Both games will be played at Reynolds field.

Many To Play

Participation sports—golf, fishing, picnicking, swimming—will draw the most attention, of course. All week the swimming pool has been a refuge for those seeking relief from the heat, and an equally large attendance is expected for this weekend.

On Labor Day, the annual Army vs. Navy golf match will be held at Dixon Country club, with the club's servicemen squaring off in the third of a series that has seen each side win one match.

Harness racing, something on the novel side for local sports enthusiasts, will make its annual appearance at the Ogle county fair in Oregon which starts today. Purses for this three-day meet total $4,800 and some 75 trotters and pacers will be on hand to run for the money.

Golf Clinic Started

A special golf exhibition and clinic will be open to the public this afternoon at Emerald Hill Country club, eight miles west of Dixon on the Sterling road. Patty Berg is the featured performer. She will present an exhibition round starting at 2:30 p.m. and will stage the clinic starting at 4:30 p.m.

And for those avid bowlers who wish to get a jump on the opening of the leagues next week, the local bowling alleys will offer open bowling over the weekend.

Matthews Cools Whitlock in 6

BOISE, Idaho, (AP) — Heavy-punching Harry (Kid) Matthews scored his ninth straight knockout and his 61st consecutive victory when he knocked out Dave Whitlock in six rounds last night.

The Seattle puncher caught the San Francisco Negro with a solid right cross and he was counted out in 2:55 of the sixth.

Both fighters weighed 176¼.

The victory was another step in Matthews' long pursuit of a crack at the lightheavyweight crown held by Joey Maxim.

But despite the win, Matthews' manager Jack Hurley said he doesn't expect an early title match.

"He's put the title in moth balls again," Hurley said after the fight, referring to Maxim.

Promoters estimated the crowd at 8,000 and the gate at $30,000.

The payoff punch was the first knockdown of the fight. It came as Whitlock was wading in with a flurry to Matthews' face.

Hurley said Matthews' next fight will be Sept. 14 at Seattle against Grant Butcher of California.

PEORIA TEAMS ADVANCE

Rojeck Goes Back To Minors; Cards To Rest Presko

ST. LOUIS, (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals have brought up a star infielder from the minors, disposed of ailing shortstop Stan Rojeck and decided against permitting Joe Presko to pitch again this season.

Presko, who pitched brilliantly early in the year compiled a record of seven victories and four defeats before his arm trouble started, was advised by a physician yesterday that he needs more rest.

"I think it will help Joe and us if he just sits out the rest of the year and gives his arm as much rest as possible," said owner Fred Saigh.

The new infielder, purchased from Columbus, O., of the American association, is third baseman Vern Benson, a .308 hitter who has 18 home runs this season. Benson, a left-handed batter who will be 26 this month, will join the Cards immediately.

Rojeck's contract was transferred to Rochester, N.Y., of the International league, a Cardinal farm club, but he probably won't report to Rochester until next year.

17 TO RUN

CHICAGO, (AP) — Seventeen two-year-olds are expected to go after the $7,835 Washington park futurity and juvenile championship of the Midwest today. First place will be worth $63,700. Calumet Farm's Hill Gail, winner of the Arlington Futurity, is the overnight favorite but is expected to be pushed by J. H. Dunn's Oh Leo.

FINALLY WINS TITLE

CHICAGO, (AP)—Virginia Dennehy, poised 17-year-old, made good on her last chance as a junior competitor in golf's big time. She scored a convincing 7 and 5 victory yesterday over Arlene Brooks of Pasadena, Calif., in the finals of the 25th Open Junior tournament of the Women's Western Golf association.

The Morning After...

By "FRIDAY"

When we set our friend, Sport Ed Hugh Hough's column yesterday we were a bit flabbergasted to find he had chosen us for a subject, and we'll have to acknowledge it and let him know we appreciate his thoughts of us, as there are few opinions on this writing business that we value more than Hugh's. We've found in the short time he's been here that on any question of word usage or grammar, he either has a ready answer or can find it for you in short order.

Hugh is an ideal sport editor, a good writer, as you folks that read his column and articles have already found, and in the active part of the sport game, was a star footballer until a leg injury forced him to the sidelines; shoots golf in the 70's, which gets him in the championship flight in the City tourney; carries close to 175 average at bowling, and we've heard that he can more than hold his own in a game of penny ante. You folks that know him don't need to be told his good features, and if you haven't met him we hope you do soon, and find for yourself how likeable he is, which we have neither words nor ability to describe.

If you readers think we're being a little too friendly to each other, wait a couple of months and step into The Telegraph some morning when our bowling starts to crowd his basketball, or vice versa, and you'd be surprised.

* * *

With his schedule yesterday Ken had a note that the first shift in all the Recreation leagues will be allowed shadow balls for five minutes before the 7 o'clock starting bell the first night. The second shift will also have the privilege if the first shift finishes in time to allow it. They'll be on the house, of course.

* * *

The Saturday night league that is in process of organizing at the Recreation, has quite a few entries, and even the girls are coming up with teams for this loop. The teams will either be all men or all girls, not a mixed league, with the girls receiving their spot on the 190 top just as the men do. And we have in mind several girl teams that will make it pretty interesting for any of the men keglers, so don't belittle them too much. If you'd like to enter a team or would like to roll on some team that is forming turn your name in to Ken as soon as possible, as the season will start just as soon as the schedule can be drawn up.

* * *

If the weather continues over the holiday weekend as it is this morning it will give the keglers a chance to get in a little practice without melting down into their shoes. So far the sticky days we've been having have slowed down the practice sessions considerably, and we know at least one guy that needs practice and practice. Who me?

LEGION SERIES SET

DETROIT, (AP)—Four teams as far distant as New York and California will fight it out in the American Legion's "junior world series" baseball championship in a four-day tournament starting here Tuesday. The four, survivors from among some 16,300 teams in a series of eliminations, are White Plains, N.Y., Jacksonville, Fla., Cincinnati, O., and Los Angeles.

Badie, Cushing Meet in Finals Of City Tennis

Billy Badie and Joe Cushing were scheduled to meet in the finals of the boys 13 years and under division of the City Tennis tourney today.

Cushing had an easy time in gaining his finals berth, defeating Gale Holbrook, 6-1, 6-1.

Not so with Badie, the favorite in this division. He was pushed all the way by David Raymond, his junior in both age and experience, before winning 6-3, 9-7.

Raymond, an 11-year-old tennis player with a future, hung on doggedly before dropping the long second set.

Play in other divisions of the City net meet, sponsored by Reynolds Wire, will continue this weekend and next week.

The results:

REYNOLDS WIRE TOURNAMENT RESULTS

Savitt Faces Severe Test In Net Meet

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., (AP) —Dick Savitt, still limping from a painful leg infection, faced perhaps the most severe test of his tennis career today in a quarterfinal match against Budge Patty of Los Angeles in the national championship.

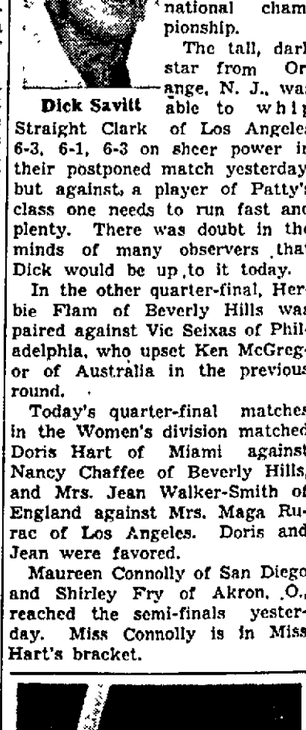

Dick Savitt

The tall, dark star from Orange, N. J., was able to whip Straight Clark of Los Angeles 6-3, 6-1, 6-3 on sheer power in their postponed match yesterday, but against a player of Patty's class one needs to run fast and plenty. There was doubt in the minds of many observers that Dick would be up to it today.

In the other quarter-final, Herbie Flam of Beverly Hills was paired against Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, who upset Ken McGregor of Australia in the previous round.

Today's quarter-final matches in the Women's division matched Doris Hart of Miami against Nancy Chaffee of Beverly Hills, and Mrs. Jean Walker-Smith of England against Mrs. Maga Rurac of Los Angeles. Doris and Jean were favored.

Maureen Connolly of San Diego and Shirley Fry of Akron, O., reached the semi-finals yesterday. Miss Connolly is in Miss Hart's bracket.

HELPS HIMSELF—The New York Yankees have another remarkable young outfielder in Bob Cerv, batting in the clean-up position for Kansas City. Manufacturing 13 in 28 games, he was almost halfway to the American Association's individual seasonal three-base hit record of 28. (NEA)

Cubs Hope to Dodge Cellar On Home Stand

CHICAGO —(AP) The Chicago Cubs return to Wrgiley field today and have a chance to dig themselves out of the National league cellar.

While on the road, they were pushed into last place. But they're only one percentage point behind the seventh-place Cincinnati Reds, and they meet the Reds today in a single game, with a doubleheader scheduled for Sunday.

The Cubs haven't seen the first division since early in the season. Still, their current cellar stand is the first for them this season.

Manager Phil Cavarretta is asking Cal McLish (3-8) to do something about this situation today. Cincinnati's choice is Herm Wehmeier (2-9).

Today Ken Holcombe (9-9) goes against Dizzy Trout (8-13) in the second game of the White Sox-Detroit series.

WATER POLO FINALS

CHICAGO —(AP)— The Whittier, Calif., team meets the Illinois Athletic club today for championship of the Nationa IAAU outdoor water polo tournament.

Chicago Cards Impressive in Debut Friday

CHICAGO —(AP)— The Chicago Cardinals apparently will not lack capable quarterbacking for the 1951 National Football league campaign.

They got excellent generalship last night in a 28-7 exhibition victory over the New York Yanks.

Especially pleasing to Card fans was the performance of Charley Trippi, making his first Chicago start as a quarterback. In previous years, he's been the Chicagoans' ace runner.

Trippi passed 28 yards to halfback Don Paul for the first Card touchdown. He followed up with a 45-yard pass to Don Stonesifer and scored himself on a short end run.

Jack Still, former Georgia Tech star, also displayed fine poise as Trippi's understudy. He directed the team efficiently and looked good passing and punting.

Frank Tripucka, a third quarterback, did not play last night.

Al Pollard, ousted Army fullback, appeared briefly in the Yank backfield. He was discharged from West Point in the cribbing scandal and arrived here yesterday to join the New Yorkers.

Pollard told reporters before the game that he wasn't crestfallen over his ouster. He said he had planned to quit the service after graduation and play professional football, anyway.

FIGHTS

NEW ORLEANS—Joe Brown, 134, New Orleans, knocked out Tommy Campbell, 137½, Los Angeles (10).
LONG BEACH, N. Y.—Bobby Lloyd, 143½, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., out-pointed Charlie Early, 145, Brooklyn, (8).
BOISE, Idaho—Harry (Kid) Matthews, 176¼, Seattle, knocked out Dave Whitlock, 176¼, San Francisco (6).
HOLLYWOOD—Joe Lopes, 131¼, Sacramento, outpointed Charley Riley, 131, St. Louis (10).

HUGH'S VIEWS of SPORTS
BY HUGH HOUGH

Probably no one in Dixon greeted Friday's change in the weather with more enthusiasm than did the Dixon high school football candidates.

IT WAS UNCOMFORTABLE enough during most of the last week for those citizens who could carry on with a minimum amount of clothing, but the football laddies had to haul at least 10 pounds of extras about in the 90-degree heat—and run, too.

Despite the heat, however, Dixon coaches report that the first week of practice has been a fruitful one as far as the future of this season's Duke football team is concerned. The hot weather has served to melt excess poundage off a few of the boys who needed reducing, and the heat also has helped reduce injuries to routine charley horses and bruises.

ALL SQUAD MEMBERS and the coaching assistants of Coach Sam Owens were saddened Thursday when they learned of the death of Owens' father in Erie, Pa. Owens is expected to be away until school starts next week. Meanwhile, Lon Scofield has assumed control of the varsity squad, with some able assistance from Tony Castagnoli.

After a tough week of two-a-day drills, the Dixon lads will swing over to single practice sessions next week when school starts. And they will NOT get a vacation for Labor Day.

"See you bright and early Monday morning," Scofield barked Friday night after practice.

WITH CONTACT work already started, the squad should be ready to show local fans what to expect this season by next Friday, the date tentatively set for the annual intra-squad game.

Meanwhile, reports filtering in from Amboy, Oregon, Polo and Mt. Morris say that football practice at these schools, like Dixon, has been a hot and heavy affair. On Tuesday afternoon we will start a tour of these schools. Look for a complete reports on prospects and personnel starting Wednesday.

THE AMBOY SPORTSMAN'S club will sponsor a trap shoot Sunday afternoon at "Five Points," located five miles west of Sublette. Entertainment and "loads of free eats" will be featured, according to John Lynch, secretary-treasurer of the club. A donation of $1 will be accepted for the event.

And from the Dixon firemen and policemen comes this reply to the challenge issued by the Knights of Columbus softball team earlier in the week:

"We are ready to meet and beat them anytime, anyplace. Remember we are still the champions until they can prove otherwise. And we doubt if they can."

Fielding Prowess of Tribe Fans Impresses Zack Taylor

CLEVELAND—(AP)—"You people in Cleveland have some darned good ball players," St. Louis Browns Mgr. Zack Taylor insisted today.

Zack, of course, was not talking about the Indians. He meant one of the fans in the right field stands. He is positive one of them caught Bob Lemon's home run ball in the seventh inning last night.

Cliff Mapes, who is paid to catch baseballs, was standing in right field when Lemon smacked one. According to Mapes and Taylor, Mapes tood against the wall, and without jumping, put the glove in the line of flight.

When he squeezed, they said, nothing was there, but at that very moment a "human hand reached out."

Umpire Disagrees

Umpire Bill Summers—a "good umpire" in Taylor's words—decisively ruled that the ball bounced off Mapes' glove into the stands. One lady, seated six or seven rows back, held up the sphere as proof and the other fans in that section argued that Summers was right.

But Taylor was so sure Mapes had the correct version that he argued until he was thrown out of the game.

"I still think a fan—I don't know whether it was a man or woman—caught the ball," he said good naturedly (after all, he won, 6 to 3) "and I think he or she should own up to it.

Utterly unconcerned about that little byplay was Satchel Paige, who entered the game in the ninth inning with two on and nobody out, and walked a man to load the bases.

Satch Steps In

Then he stopped the Indians without a hit, allowing only one run.

The last out gave Satch particular pleasure. He struck out his old roommate of the Indians, Larry Doby. The third strike was Satch's "hesitation" pitch. Larry watched it float by with his bat on his shoulder.

"That last pitch was right down chuckle. "That hesitation, just a little shoulder twitch, probably upset him. You see, I sort of know what these youngsters are thinking."

Browns Poison to Indians

Killed Hopes In 1950, Now Doing It Again

By RALPH RODEN
AP Sports Writer

Generally, the St. Louis Browns are used as stepping stones by pennant contending teams in the American league. But that's not the case when the Cleveland Indians are the opposition.

The Browns, hibernating in last place, 40 games off the pace, helped knock the Indians out of the 1950 race and last night dealt the Tribe a staggering blow in the current flag chase.

St. Louis defeated the Indians, 6-3, to dump the Tribe one game behind the idle New York Yankees. The victory was the lowly Browns' fifth in 16 meetings with Cleveland. The Yanks hold a 17-3 record against the Browns and the third place Boston Red Sox boast a 16-5 record over the Missourians.

Did It Last Year

The Browns killed Cleveland's flag hopes last year. The Indians were 4½ games behind on Sept. 9 when the Browns came in and swept a four game series to balk Cleveland's threat.

Jim McDonald, with help from Satchel Paige, stopped the Indians before 23,088 fans at Cleveland last night. Paige, former Indian, rushed to the rescue in the ninth after the first two Tribesmen reached base.

Paige walked pinch-hitter Early Wynn to load the sacks but old Satch nailed Dale Mitchell on a foul, got Bob Avila to force George Stirnweiss at second and struck out Larry Doby to end the game.

Browns Pound Lemon

The Browns pounded Bob Lemon, gunning for his eighth straight and 17th victory, and Lou Brissie for 11 hits. Hank Arft was the Brownies' big gun, driving in four runs on a homer and two singles. Fred Marsh also homered for the Browns while Lemon drove in Cleveland's first two runs with a circuit blow in the seventh.

The Yanks, idle the past two days, resume action today with the Senators in Washington. Ed Lopat (16-7) is slated to face Washington's Sid Hudson (4-8). The Indians again entertain the Browns while the third place Red Sox take on Philadelphia in Boston.

Sox Blank Tigers

In the only other game yesterday the Chicago White Sox blanked the Detroit Tigers, 2-0. Saul Rogovin, former Tiger, limited the Bengels to seven hits. Tiger pitcher Marlin Stuart deserved a better fate. Stuart banged out a triple and two singles and allowed only six hits. The White Sox scored both of their runs in the sixth.

Nelson Fox singled, stole second and went to third on an error by Bob Swift. Fox scored when shortstop Johnny Lipon made a two base error on Minnie Minoso's grounder. Ed Robinson singled Minoso home with the final run.

Dodgers, Giants Meet

Action in the National league picks up today with the big game pitting the league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers against the runner-up Giants in New York.

The Dodgers lead the Giants by seven games and the Giants must win the two game series if they wish to stay in the race. The heated rivals clash again next weekend in a two-game set at Brooklyn.

Sal Maglie (17-5) has been selected to pitch for the Giants against Ralph Branca (12-5). Don Newcombe (17-7) will go for the Dodgers Sunday against Jim Hearn (13-7).

ARMY'S HOPE—Candidates for West Point's football squad leave the campus gymnasium on their way to the practice field under the scrutiny of fellow cadets. Fifty-two of them, half the normal number of tryouts, are faced with the rugged task of replacing the powerful team which was wiped out by a wave of expulsions following the recent cribbing scandal. Here's 30-Day Weather Chart

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The weather bureau's 30-day outlook for September calls for temperatures to average below seasonal normals west of the Continental Divide and in western parts of the Northern Plains.

Above normal temperatures are indicated in the eastern half of the nation, Texas, and the Central Plains with greatest departures in the lower Mississippi valley.

Elsewhere the outlook is for temperatures not for from seasonal normals.

Rainfall is expected to exceed seasonal normals in the plains and Rocky mountain states. Subnormal amounts are indicated from the Gulf states northeastward to New England with the exception of east coastal areas where moderate to locally heavy amounts are anticipated. Elsewhere precipitation will be about normal.

Colleen Harris Leads Franklin Queen Contest

FRANKLIN GROVE — Seventeen girls are running for queen of the Franklin Grove fair, which begins Sept. 6, and totals Friday night showed half of the candidates running close.

Colleen Harris is in first place, Joyce Hayen second and Virginia Burkey third, according to Friday's tabulation.

Containers with each girls name have been placed in the Zoeller cafe. To vote for a contestant pennies should be put in the girl's container.

Money obtained from the contest will be used to finance the float on which the queen and her two attendants will ride the opening evening of the fair. The contest is sponsored by the Franklin Grove Women's club.

Miller, Baker Charged With Bread Deaths

PONT SAINT ESPRIT, FRANCE—(AP)—The police have filed charges of involuntary homicide against a miller and a baker charged with providing the flour which killed four persons, made 28 seriously ill and drove more than 100 temporarily insane.

The two accused men are Miller Maurice Maillet, 40, of Saint-Martin-Laiviere and Baker Roland Bruere of the same town, which is on the other side of France from Pont Saint Esprit.

Police quoted Maillet as saying he had sent the flour here because it was of poor quality and he did not want to sell it to his neighbors.

The flour which was baked into bread allegedly contained ergot, a fungus growth which paralyzes the nerve ends.

No Break in Peace Talks Near, Belief

TOKYO, (AP) — An Allied spokesman said today "there is no indication that there will be a permanent breakdown" in truce talks to end the Korean war.

The spokesman made the statement amid a welter of new Communist charges that United Nations forces violated the Kaesong neutral zone in Korea.

The U.N. command began an immediate investigation of the new complaints. There were three of them. All previous charges have been denied.

At Munsan, advance headquarters in Korea of U.N. truce negotiators, Major James MacMaster told newsmen there was no sign of a final breakdown in the talks.

Other sources observed that neither side wants to assume responsibility for renewing full scale warfare.

While the Reds have not answered Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's offer to resume negotiations, they maintained official contact between truce delegations by the mere act of filing new protests.

The development of America's modern, ready-to-wear clothing industry grew out of problems of military supplies.

Ogle County Swim Classes Aid Children

OREGON— The Ogle county chapter of the American Red Cross has provided swimming instruction for the children in the county. The pools have been donated during the time of the classes so that there has been no expense to the children. The Red Cross has aid the instructors who have been especially trained to teach these classes. In communities where transportation was necessary to bring the children to the pools, as in Byron, Stillman Valley, and Leaf River, buses have been paid for by the chapter.

Following is the list of 42 children in Oregon who have received certificates this year:

Swimmer class: Lanny Kiest, Roger Martin, Darold Wright, Mart Nurmet.

Intermediate class: Ruth Ann Coe, Joey Hodges, Patricia Kinn, Sandra Curtis, Shirley Anderson, Robert Bechtold, Carol Catey, Sharon Catey, Debora Webster, Robert Johnson, Norma Armour, Marilyn Wilson, Pat Loan, Janice Ehemen, Sandra Ehmen, Phyllis Myers, Clarence Bechtold.

A rural church conference will be held Friday, Sept. 7, from 10:30 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. in St. James Lutheran church, Forreston, where the Rev. C. G. Altoff is pastor.

Baked ice cream pie makes a luscious dessert. To prepare fill a crisp-baked pie shell with about three cups of sliced fruit; cover with 1½ pints very stiff vanilla ice cream; top the ice cream with a stif meringue made by beating six tablespoons of sugar gradually into three stiffly beaten egg whites, being sure the meringue touches the crust edge at all points. Brown meringue quickly in a very hot oven (450 F.) about three minutes.

Once the grids of your waffle iron are seasoned, don't wash them; brush them clean while still hot, then leave the waffle iron open so the grids can cool. If there's grease or batter around the hinges be sure to wipe off.
